The Emerging Leaders are a group of young professionals in Greater Boston who use their personal and professional skills to support our mission of rebuilding lives of those experiencing homelessness.

This team of St. Francis House ambassadors are rising stars in their fields who are committed to building support for our mission and strive to make social responsibility inspiring, thought-provoking, and fun!

“Living and working in a city, I see homelessness on display every day. It’s a major issue in our world today, and St. Francis House is a well-conceived organization that combats this issue the correct way – offering food, clothing, affordable housing, mentorship, and providing avenues for securing employment and in some cases, higher education. This is the type of help that can end someone’s homelessness permanently.

Joining the Emerging Leaders group has allowed me to contribute to this cause and have a meaningful impact. It’s also a great opportunity to make connections with other young professionals in the Boston area. If you’re looking to make a difference in society and meet new people, joining the Emerging Leaders group is a fun way to begin doing so.”
